Looking for a luxurious vacation where you can indulge in top tier dining, exciting experiences, and unparalleled relaxation without lifting a finger? High-end, all-inclusive resorts are definitely for you. Gone are the stereotypes of sugary drinks, packed buffets with so-so food, and packs of fussy kids pawing at weary parents.

Instead, at all-inclusive resorts you'll find tailored menus with meals cooked to perfection, unforgettable excursions and on-property activities, and dedication to elevating your experience from the second you step onto the property.

A forget-your-worries vacation like this is definitely calling your name, and lucky for you we've curated a list of the best all-inclusive resorts in the world that'll make it happen. We recommend booking your stay at least three months in advance so you have your pick of the best rooms. Also, ask hotel services about whether you need to make dining or excursion reservations.

THE POINT, NEW YORK

Holding the distinction of the first Relais and Châteaux hotel in North America, this private, lakefront Adirondack escape was constructed as a camp for William Avery Rockefeller II in the 1930s. Now, The Point has 11 unique rooms spread across four original log buildings, giving guests a sense of “roughing it,” albeit in extreme style.

The all-inclusive resort approach means that visitors can genuinely have a carefree stay, enjoying help-yourself beverages spread throughout the property, caviar tastings, boating and fishing activities, and seven-course black-tie dinners held on Wednesday and Saturday nights.

Worth Traveling For: Cozy sophistication, serene surroundings, and year-round events tailored to the season.

- Best time to visit: Year-round
- Rates from: $2650/night
